

PRAISE REPORT

December 13, 2015 – Austin, Chapter 2

PRAISE GOD!! This morning at 1 am, I picked Austin up from DIA! Austin had not returned as planned. Instead, he chose to stay, hoping that something could be worked out with his family. He did have a dinner with his family and got to spend some time with his younger sister. But then, he was rejected and forced back to the streets. Rather than returning to the drugs, he worked odd jobs, slept where he could find shelter and saved enough money for the plane ticket. He also notified Urban Peak, who agreed to allow him to return to his apartment.

As we were driving from DIA, Austin said that he did not blame his family, that his previous behavior had hurt his family deeply, and that he was to blame. He said that he thought GOD had wanted him to have this experience; to realize that GOD was the answer and not his so-called friends, nor the family he had alienated. I could tell that he was hurt, but also at peace with starting a new life.

I want to thank all of you who prayed for Austin, please keep him in your prayers,
